If Republicans Win . . . WHAT PRESIDENT'S NEW TEAM WOULD LOOK LIKE

EXCERPT

A candidate to remain in the White House is Max L. Friedersdorf, the President's legislative lobbyist on Capitol Hill. Friedersdorf is considered "low profile," but effective by his associates.

Another official who may change jobs is George Bush, director of the Central Intelligence Agency. In a new Ford Administration, the President may replace Bush and get him back in the political mainstream with a Cabinet post.
